Two Zionist Visitors

An Intimate Appraisal

COL. PATTERSON—ZIONIST!

Surely there can be no chapter in Jewish history more fascinating than that which tells of Col. J. H. Patterson, ex-commander of the Jewish Battalions in Palestine, soldier, author, bridge-builder, hunter of big game and withal, though a non-Jew, a staunch champion of the cause of Zionism. A thorough Britisher, a clean sportsman, a lover of fair play, it was indeed fortunate for us that he and none other was chosen to command the Jewish forces. At a time when very little indeed was needed to turn the Jewish battalions into a joke—a joke resulting in ridicule that might have injured our race a great deal more than we care to think about—Col. Patterson with untiring sympathy and indefatigable efforts stuck by the legionaries, saving them from their enemies, both Jew and gentile. It was no easy task that the Colonel had to face, harassed as he was on the one side by the anti-Zionists and on the other by the War Office. Nothing but his tact, diplomacy and sheer insight enabled him to carry our men through to victory with flying colours.

If ever a man were given an opportunity to study the Jews, Col. Patterson is that man, and he has most assuredly taken advantage of his opportunity. He has seen us at our best and at our worst. His understanding of us is almost uncanny; he knows our moods of hope and of despair. Yet in spite of discouragements he feels confident, and his is a confidence based on facts, that the Jew will build up Palestine within the next five years, and there will once more become a nation and as such will have another great message to give to the world.

The Colonel tells us that he is not a talker but a doer. That he is a man of deeds there can be no doubt, but he has taken many an audience by storm during his Canadian tour. More than one group has thrilled to the stories that he has to tell us about our "fighting boys." His presence inspires confidence; listening to him one feels the power of a man who is completely master of himself and of his affairs—and we cannot be too grateful of the fact that he has made our affairs his.

The Colonel has a great deal to say about the importance of Hadassah in Palestine, for it is Hadassah that will forge the link between the Arab and the Jew. The hospitals of Palestine are open alike to Christian, Arab and Jew, and none are slow to avail themselves of the help thus extended towards them. The Arabs especially are in need of medical treatment, for they suffer greatly from the eye-disease, "trachoma." It is a common sight to see Arabian children with their eyes covered with flies that settle upon the festering sores. To quote the Colonel, "Two Arabians have but three eyes." The Arabs look up to the Jewish doctors and nurses. Not only is Hadassah performing a great healing mission, but incidentally the work is a political one.

In speaking of his Jewish soldiers, who fought and endured so well during the campaign, the Colonel says that it is a curious fact that the whole movement was pivoted on the Jewish troops in the Jordan valley close to the spot where Joshua saw it some three thousand years ago.

It may be of interest to hear that when Col. Patterson was asked to come to Canada to aid the Keren Hayesod campaign, he found that he could not leave Bagdad in time to catch a steamer that would bring him across just at the moment that would best suit Zionist plans. So as not to hinder these plans in any way, the Colonel chartered an aeroplane which put him aboard his steamer in good time.

HOW DR. GOLDSTEIN BECAME A ZIONIST

To begin with, we weren't Zionists. Not, you understand, that we were anti-Zionists! Not at all! It was just simply that the Zionist issue had never touched us. True, we had during our five-and-twenty odd years of existence canvassed during the campaign drives, attended Hadassah bridges, and had even joined lustily in "Hatikvah" at dances and such like. Not that it thrilled us to do any of these things; rather, it was because everybody about us was making a fuss over it all, and, well, we felt that we might just as well do that as the next thing...There were times when we marvelled at the enthusiasm of our local Zionists, but casually and with scarcely a thought, too, that was dismissed. Callous, narrow, selfish, we must have seemed to our Zionist friends. Yet it was just simply that we were so absorbed in our own personal problems (at that time, the problems of the entire younger generation were ours) as to be oblivious to all else. That the Jews had certain problems to face, we understood; that the problems of the Jew were our problems, was something that we had still to learn.

It so happened that last week there was a rally meeting of the Young Judaeans of Montreal at Zionist headquarters. It was during the week that preceded the big Zionist drive for Keren Hayesod, and Col. J. H. Patterson, ex-commander of the Jewish Battalion and Dr. Alexander Goldstein of the World Zionist Organization were addressing Zionist, Hadassah and Judaean groups throughout the city. This particular gathering was of Judaeans, for the most part students, and they had turned out in hundreds, all of them enthusiastic with the enthusiasm of youth...We got to the meeting late. As we entered the hall the second speaker, Dr. Alexander Goldstein, had just commenced his address. He took but a few minutes to make us realize that he was talking to us, at us, about us—directly! He was telling the age-old story of the Jew who had found it a simple thing to accept the cultured, pleasant life of the gentile. It was much the easier thing to forget the Jews of the narrow streets and crowded houses; their restrictions were wearisome; their burdens troublesome. It was far more pleasant to live the care-free, broader life of the Russian, the Canadian or the American, than to live the life of the Jew—the Jew, who to us, seemed ever grieving over what was lost, and ever striving to regain what seemed not only impossible but senseless. Now and again the news of a pogrom would wake us up—but only for a moment. Pogroms were century-old to us, sometimes they seemed a forever-ever institution...Picture after picture did Dr. Goldstein cause to appear before our eyes. One in particular is still before us—the picture of

There is much that could be told of the Colonel, for he has lived a life of action, of adventure, of romance far removed from the humdrum. He is indeed one of the chosen few who dares to fight for his ideas. He tells us that there are many Englishmen who like him are in sympathy with the Jews—that these others are just waiting for the Jews to make good, before they will come out into the open as their champions. He cannot but help to make us more sure of ourselves, when we realize the complete confidence that the Colonel—and others of his type—have in our ability to once more become a nation that will contribute wisely and well to the culture of the civilized world.

Hadassah

Twelve hundred dollars in cash was raised and sent on to Palestine by Hadassah at the Zionist Building last Monday night. The occasion was the reception of Col. Patterson and Dr. Alexander Goldsmith, in which members of all the Hadassah Chapters took part.

Col. Patterson, who was the commander of the Jewish Legionaries in the Gallipoli, in a forceful address brought to light the excellent work that Hadassah is carrying on in Palestine. The Hadassah Medical Unit is one of the great factors in the rebuilding of the Holy Land in its years of stress during and immediately after the war.

The Hadassah unit is making Palestine a country fit to live in from a medical standpoint. Before the unit had come, fully sixty per cent. of the people living there had been infected with malaria and trachoma had been very prevalent. Both these deseases were now well under control. The unit had also done much in cementing good feeling between Arab and Jew by showing extreme kindness to the former.

Dr. Alexander Goldstein, who is a member of the International Zionist Executive and a scholar and a journalist of note, urged those present not to fail to help contribute in the raising of the $450,000 Hadassah budget. He congratulated the Toronto Chapters on their work in connection with the Yarid. The immense sum that was then raised had come in time to help avert a grave crisis. Six hundred and eighty Chaluzim, who had not sufficient funds to pay their head-tax, entered Palestine as a result, and were saved the dangers of deportation.

Mrs. J. Selick on behalf of Hadassah presented Golden Book certificates to the distinguished guests. She impressed upon the audience that their most fitting means of showing their appreciation would be an immediate response to the speakers' appeals.

Mr. M. Gelber occupied the chair.

The Dance

On Monday, March 26, the Hadassah of Toronto are holding a large informal dance at the Arcadia, College Street. Final arrangements have been completed and these include a large orchestra and various attractions for those who do not care to dance—six acts of vaudeville from downtown theatres, card-playing, checkers and so on.

As has been previously anounnced, the proceeds of this dance are going to the financing of the alterations on the Zionist Building. Those who have been in the Institute since the work has been completed know what great improvements have been made. The building has been literally transformed and has become a true Zionist centre. It has been completely redecorated and refurnished. All these improvements have meant some expense and Hadassah hopes that all her friends will not fail her on this occasion.

Junior Hadassah

On Sunday afternoon Col. Patterson and Dr. Alexander Goldstein delivered addresses before the Junior Hadassah at the Zionist Building.

TO THE EDITOR.
CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

It is for the old and helpless folks of the Jewish Old Folks' Home that I wish to appeal to the kind-hearted Jews and Jewesses of this city. As you are all aware, every old and helpless Jew or Jewess that enters our institute is gladly received and properly nursed and cared for as long as he or she lives, and that the Old Home to-day ranks among the finest institutions of the City of Toronto. You all know that such an institution is of utmost necessity to the community and to keep it up to the standard, large means are necessary. Therefore I sincerely ask every man and woman to do their utmost in helping to make the Passover days of these destitute folks brighter and happier than ever.

Yours truly,
D. BROWN.

News, Opinions and Comments Pertaining to the Efforts of Toronto Jewry to Assist in the Reconstruction of Palestine.

Well Done, Toronto Jewry

It is hardly time yet for us to start congratulating ourselves upon what we have done for the Keren Hayesod. Our campaign really has not begun yet. As is well known, our "drive" is not scheduled to commence until "Chol Hamoed," on April 3. A tremendous amount of work is still ahead of the Zionists of this city before the local community will have done its full share for the Keren Hayesod. But in the little extempore drive which we have just had for the emergency fund—a drive without any preparations, without any of the bustle and excitement which attend upon drives—the Toronto Jewish community has really done itself proud. Dr. Goldstein and Col. Patterson came and told their limited audience—limited in the sense that it was physically possible for only a small portion of the community to come within the radius of their influence—that the work in Palestine was literally in a critical condition, facing ruin, if speedy assistance did not come forth, and Toronto Jewry responded very generously. In two days the not inconsiderable sum of six thousand dollars in cash was collected and cabled to London for immediate transmission to Palestine No pledges; actual cash. Palestine needs money very urgently at present. The institutions and funds which are the bases of Palestinian development are starved for lack of cash. Soon there will be ample supplies pouring in from the United States where Dr. Weizmann is meeting with success, but money is needed to tide over until the American harvest will be garnered. And Toronto Jewry gave six thousand dollars for the emergency. Col. Patterson and Dr. Goldstein were delighted with the liberality of our men and women. Toronto has captured their hearts even as they have captured the heart of Toronto. The worried executive in London and the harassed leaders in Palestine will be very grateful to Toronto Jews for their fine answer to the call, and Toronto Jews can feel happy that they have been able to do the right thing by Eretz Yisroel in the moment of need. And the success of the emergency drive is good augury for the campaign which is to commence on April 3.

Our Guests

Col. Patterson is a polished English gentleman who is imbued with a deep affection for Palestine, and does not spare himself in the service to the cause which he has espoused. His geniality and sincerity have won for him the admiration and love of the various audiences with which he came in contact. Dr. Goldstein is a dynamic personality, who, after having suffered the disappointments and despair of his people during the past few years, is anxious to impart to the Jewish masses the significance of the crisis through which Jewish life is passing. His whole being is tense with emotion and excitement, and the sparks of energy which he emits, literally ignite those around him. Our guests were kept busy during the few days they spent here, but the achievements warranted their exertion.

The Chairman of the Campaign

Modest and shy almost to a fault, the chairman of the campaign, Mr. David Dunkelman, prefers to do his work in his own conscientious manner, quietly and unobtrusively, and hates the glare of publicity which his great services and the importance of his position naturally invite. Realizing the urgency of the moment, Mr. Dunkelman gladly undertook the onerous responsibility of leading the campaign, but he stipulated that he was not to be obliged to preside at public meetings, or be made the subject of publicity. His co-workers, realizing his earnestness and sincerity, as well as his considerable organizing ability, are inspired to the greatest efforts by his energy and modesty, and a successful result is assured. And may not his colleagues be pardoned for ignoring his wish, for once, regarding publicity, and pointing out to the public the merits of the man who will lead their cause in this city?

The Mass Meeting

In many respects the mass meeting held at Massey Hall on Sunday evening last, was one of the most successful ever held in Toronto. The audience was not the largest ever, but it was quite big, about twenty-five hundred people having been in attendance. It was an exceptionally intelligent and attentive crowd, however. All the speakers were given a good hearing, and when the appeal for money was made the response was one perhaps never equalled by a similar crowd in Toronto. All the people present remained in their seats, and gave most generously to the collectors that were scattered among them. The total of five thousand dollars (including some larger amounts given by members of the executive during the day) was collected at the meeting. No attempts were made to obtain pledges of future payments. The pledges will be canvassed for later, during the campaign. Cash was called for to be forwarded immediately to Palestine, and cash poured in in gratifying amounts. As a demonstration, the meeting could hardly be excelled. The atmosphere was full of Zionist sentiment. Rabbi Siegel started with a strong address, reviewing the Zionist situation. Dr. Goldstein's address was a masterpiece of emotional appeal that completely overpowered the audience. With simple, realistic strokes he depicted the stark horrors of the hell through which Eastern European Jewry was passing, and the hopelessness of their situation, unless Palestine was prepared for them as a haven of refuge. The vast throng was deeply moved, and when Dr. Shayne made the appeal for money the people gladly offered their bits. Col Patterson received a tumultuous ovation when he rose to speak. The crowd showed that it deeply appreciated the efforts of this noble "goy" on behalf of the rejuvenated Palestine. The Colonel gave a graphic picture of the struggles of the Jewish legion in Palestine, and recited incidents of their bravery and heroism. His address was interspersed with flashes of Irish wit, and his occasional Hebrew colloquialisms won favour with the public.

Hadassah Spoke

Woman, according to the Jewish saying, is supposed to have appropriated nine-tenths of the world's allotment of talk. At the Hadassah reception, held in honour of the guests on Monday evening, the women in Toronto effectively challenged the truth of this saying. The men—a very small proportion of the crowd—did all the talking in words, and the women spoke differently—they gave. The chairman was a man—the "husky chairman of the Central Division," as Col. Patterson jocularly referred to him—and the two main speakers were members of the masculine persuasion. Only one woman deigned to resort to the ordinary mode of expression exemplified on this occasion by the men. Mrs. Selick rose and spoke a few words only, giving the signal to the women to start the conversation in the new language of giving money. And the women carried on a lively discourse. The result was twelve hundred dollars more to be cabled to Palestine. The gallant Colonel and the lone Doctor must have thought the Toronto ladies were the dearest things ever—certainly when there is charm and money combined.

We Are All Behind You

This is a letter which the gentlemen who attended the reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dunkelman, on Saturday evening, in honour of Col. Patterson, might have addressed to the chairman of the campaign committee on the occasion of his acceptance of the honour and responsibility of chairman of the campaign.:

Dear Chairman:

We know that you are a very busy man and that you have recently made great sacrifices of time for other communal causes. You are a modest man and are above seeking honour. But you are a good Jew. You realize the great importance of building up our homeland. The situation in Palestine has been explained to you, and like a man, you instantly recognized your duty. But we are equally alive to the greatness of the cause to which you are dedicating your services. We shall not leave you to carry the burden alone. We are all behind you. We give you our solemn pledge to support you in every way. Call on us—we shall not fail you.

(Signed) Rabbi Julius Siegel, M. Gelber, Samuel Kronick, J. Schwartz, M. L. Willinsky, Chas. Garfunkel, Samuel Factor, William Libel, S. Himmel, M. Michaelson, Alex Solomon, Harry Clavir, Nathan Phillips, B. M. Speyer, Harry Miller, Frank Hutner, A. B. Bennett, Dr. David Faurman, Dr. M. Schwartz, S. Bennett, L. Rotenberg, A. Rogul, C. Pritzker, S. Shapera, Sol Eisen, Chas. James, Phillip James, Abraham White, Abraham Cohen, I. Levinter, I. Finberg, H. Houser, Harry Rosenthal.

This letter would express the sentiment of the gentlemen present at the reception. They were all nearly as enthusiastic for the cause as Col. Patterson himself.

Personal Mention

Col. Patterson on several occasions bowed to the "will-o'-the-wisp." Even the "husky chairman" did. She was everywhere, and arranged every detail to perfection.

Mr. E. Pullan, at one time vice-president of the Federation of Zionists, showed at the mass meeting that the problem of Palestine still deeply concerns him. His affable personality and level-headedness will be an acquisition to the Zionist leadership in this city.

Mr. Jacob Becker, just recovering from his illness, picked the Hadassah reception to make his first appearance in the campaign. Beautiful surroundings are an aid to health, Mr. Becker.

We will not mention the name of the president of the Hadassah Council this week.

When Dr. Schwartz saw the pretty Hadassah nurses at the mass meeting, he bethought himself of the attractions of Palestine.

Harry Rosenthal is training hard for the campaign. This is one campaign, however, where "wind" is not essential.

Mr. Frank Hutner, the treasurer of the campaign, has ordered a "Burroughs" to count the money that will pour in during the campaign.

Mrs. Kates was among those not seen at the Hadassah reception.

Sam Factor hopes there will be enough Jewish aldermen elected in this city some day to make Keren Hayesod taxation of Jews compulsory. Run on that ticket, Samuel, and this bulletin will support you.

The editor of the REVIEW is contemplating instituting a "Dearborn Independent Bulletin" in his paper to attract the readers who cancelled their subscriptions because the paper takes notice of the fact that Zionism is dear to the hearts of ninety-five per cent. of the Jewish population of this city. Ford will be made the editor of the anti-Jewish bulletin, and the picture of Haman will adorn every issue.

Editorial

"THE GOD OF VENGEANCE"

"The God of Vengeance" is the name of a play by Sholom Asch who is one of our best Jewish literateurs. The play was written some seventeen years ago and has been produced on the Yiddish, German and Russian stages. Recently it was put on the boards of the English stage with Rudolph Schildkraut, the father of Joseph Schildkraut, in the title role. The play ran for many weeks in one of New York's smaller theatres and attracted considerable attention. A few weeks ago it was moved to an uptown theatre. Suddenly, like a bolt out of a clear sky, the police pounced down on the theatre and closed the show. It is maintained by those who complained against the play that it was immoral and anti-Semitic. One of the principal characters is pictured as a rabbi of one of New York's leading temples.

In entertaining the charges, the Board of Police censors dismissed [illegible] as a farce and the play went down on the count of immorality.

The play is daring. It is regarded as immoral because it brings on the stage a rabbi and exposes the hypocrisy of Yankel Shabshevitz, the chief character of the piece, who attempts to cover up his sins by [illegible] and providing it with Scrolls of the Law. In [illegible] would protect his only daughter [illegible] His supreme ambition is to marry [illegible] vengeance [illegible] proves defective, [illegible]

[illegible] on the Yiddish stage of New [illegible] a veritable hornet's nest in [illegible] Yiddish intelligentsia. The [illegible] remained [illegible] who saw the play, [illegible] brothel [illegible] literary [illegible] through [illegible] in spite of "The God of Vengeance" rather than on account of it. In the annals of Jewish dramatic literature it will be written down as one of Asch's youthful attempts, when he was largely under the influence of the pornographic naturalist school of writers who held sway in continental literature for some years.

It is unfair to regard a play by Scholom Asch as anti-Semitic because Asch is an intense nationalistic Jew and lover of his people. It is inconceivable that he would write anything that would deliberately malign his race.

It is, however, unfortunate that an artist like Rudolph Schildkraut, when appearing in a Yiddish play before an English audience, should deliberately choose "The God of Vengeance" as his vehicle. Though we regard it as unfortunate we are not surprised. Schildkraut was guilty of having done the same thing some years ago when appearing in Berlin under the direction of Reinhardt. Then, too, he starred in "The God of Vengeance." The play's sensationalism attracted large houses and always proved a financial if not an artistic success.

We regret the production of "The God of Vengeance" on the English stage for the reason that it is likely to convey to the average non-Jew, who is neither a literary critic nor familiar with the Jew, a wrong impression of the Jew, and immigrant Jewish Ghetto life in Poland and Russia. He is likely to think that this play is the best that Yiddish literature has produced, because if it is not, why should it merit translation and production before a non-Jewish audience? As a matter of fact, Asch himself has done better things than "The God of Vengeance." It is not evident to the non-Jew that the play was selected because it gives Schildkraut an opportunity for a bit of fine realistic acting, and the manager, shekels. Thus, while the play is not anti-Semitic, it helps to convey a wrong impression about the Jew and his moral character. The non-Jew is not to be blamed if Jews themselves help him to judge us all by the misdeeds and superstitions of Yankel Shabshevitz. This impression of the Jew as a procurer and Jewish girls as brothel inmates, comes at a most inopportune time, when the atmospliere is tense with prejudice and ill-will toward the Jew.

If managers and actors are interested in art, and are anxious to acquaint the English public with the merits of Yiddish dramatic literature—a worthy and desirable aim—then we could recommend them to the plays of Hirschbein, Pinski, Dyumov and some of our younger writers or other plays by Asch.

Though we are grieved at the presentation of "The God of Vengeance" on the English stage, we sincerely regret that it has become the object of censorship and suppression by the police. We are apposed to this sort of puritanical moral censorship on principle. It is the result of a narrow, bigoted conception of morality, of evil and sin, and is usually sponsored by the sort of people who always see black and red. They are the same people who are constantly dinning it into us that "the world is going to the dogs," that the present generation is not as good as the former generation. They are the people who invoke the dead hand of tradition to stifle any attempt to break through the bounds of the past and mark out new paths. We do admit that there is a certain type of pornographic suggestive literature that is surfeiting the market, that is objectionable and even corruptible in its effects on our youth. We are not in favour of this sort of "art." But surely "The God of Vengeance" is not to be placed in this class. Our objection to it we have stated above. But when, we ask, will the police and censors learn that the only way to advertise a play or increase the circulation of a book is to suppress it? This lesson is so obvious, yet it is the obvious which some people are always overlooking. "The God of Vengeance" is now receiving just this sort of notoriety and advertising, and we wager that when it comes back to the stage—as it no doubt will—the house will be sold out weeks ahead. Then the very damage the moralists and hyper-sensitive Jews who were objecting to the play wished to avert, will commence with a vengeance. To counteract the influence of "The God of Vengeance," it might have proven wiser to finance a venture which would have given those not familiar with Yiddish literature and opportunity to learn to know it in the language which they know best.

Insist on Having Genuine "Semi-finished"

The name "Semi-Finished" is one given to a laundry process which we originated in Toronto. We had already been doing "wet wash" and "rough-dry" work, and installed equipment especially designed to take the family wash one step further. We were agreeably surprised to find that in addition to being the very best method of doing the family wash "Semi-Finished" was the cheapest method. Remember, each wash is done separately in soft water and pure soap. 'Phone to-day for a trial wash.

Charles F. Wheelock, assistant commissioner for secondary education of New York, is asking English-Jewish papers to give publicity to the fact that although "the foundation head of our basic religious ideals" is Hebrew, no registered secondary schools reported pupils taking Hebrew last year and the State Board of Regents has decided to discontinue giving examinations in the language of the Bible. Fifty per cent. of America's Jews live in New York, and when they must be reminded by a gentile that "never was there such a crying need for religious and moral inspiration for the student body as now" things are in a bad way. From their apathy we must conclude either that they don't regard the study of Hebrew as worth much these days or that they don't care whether it is or not.

In his criticism of an article on "Spiritual Conditions in Canada," written in the Hibbert Journal, by Carleton W. Stanley, of Montreal, Hector Charlesworth says in Saturday Night:

"In beginning his arraignment of the Canadian trend towards materialism, he begins with a splenetic reference to 'our prosperous Jewish element,' whom he intimates are the enemies of good citizenship, gaining a foothold in society by their wealth. This is rank exaggeration. The fact is that we show our provincialism most, not by opposing the presence of Jewry as an economic factor where our position is sound, but in something very nearly approaching social ostracism of Jews of high ideals and culture, who are genuine benefactors of the community. The charge that the Jews are more materialistic than any other races will not, I think, hold water."

"Y" Quintet Take Lead in First Game of the O.A.B.A. Play-offs

The "Y" team took the lead in the first game of the O.A.B.A. playoffs at Orillia last Saturday night when they defeated the home-brews in a fast and exciting game by the score of 18-8. The game was fast throughout and only the good work of the winners' defense and the close and heavy back-checking of the forwards kept Orillia from increasing their score in the last half. The "Y" team started in as if they meant business and after the play had progressed up and down the floor for a time, Pearlstone put in a beautiful field goal from the side. Ginsberg came along a minute after with another one on a pass from Goldman. Then Orillia put a brace on and Deans sank a nice long shot. Once again the "Y" went up another point, this on a foul shot by Harry Posen who had missed the first two. Deans sank a foul shot for them and Ginsberg came across with a field goal to increase the "Y" lead to four points, making the score at half time 7-3 in favour of the Y.M.H.A. The second half was by far the best as far as classy basketball was concerned and the "Y" seemed to have become accustomed to the floor and the short, snappy passes from Goldman to Pearlstone to Ginsberg and from Freeman to Posen to Pearlstone had the husky Northerners pulling their heads off. They could not fathom the playing of the "Y" boys who had possession of the ball for ninety per cent. of the time. When Orillia did have the ball they got in some useful work and scored two field goals and one foul shot. The foul shooting of Posen, who sank six out of nine, was one of the marked features as it goes to show what a benefit a good foul shot is to a team. The Orillia team were weak in this department and only scored two out of eight.

One of the features of the trip up north was the presence of Curley Wilshin and Yonkel Burnett who got the party back on the train when they stopped at Allandale. It seemed that a good looking girl in the dining room there captured their hearts and it was difficult to get them away from her presence. Curley Wilshin had a fine appetite on the train he was so interested.

The line-up:

Y.M.H.A.—Goldman, Brickstein, Freeman, Posen, Pearlstone.

Orillia—Ryan, Wilkinson, Deans, Fowler, Boyd.

Referee—Wally Wells, scorer, Burnett, timer, Curley Wilshin.

Good Service

The Y.M.H.A. wishes to thank the boys and those who assisted in any way to make the trip a success. Special thanks are due to Mr. Wilshin for the use of his car.

Rabbi Brickner is in receipt of a letter from Rabbin J. H. Kobavigdor, of Drohobycz, Boyyslaw, Poland, requesting him to locate Michael Rosenberg, supposed to be living at 1 Beverley Street, Toronto. The letter states that his mother and sisters, whom he no doubt thinks dead, are still alive and living in Drohobycz, Boyyslaw, and are greatly in need of his financial support. HEBREW NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly concert was held at the Weston Sanitarium for Consumptives on Wednesday, March 7, under the direction of the vice-president, Mrs. S. Lent. Moving pictures were shown of "The Shriek," a two-reel comedy, and also other pictures. A one-act playlet was also given by five small boys and a girl, which produced much amusement for the patients.

Fruits, pastries and money were given to all Jewish patients and bags full of chocolates were also distributed to all the children of the Queen Mary Sanitarium.

The hall was crowded with patients, nurses and doctors and towards the end a radio concert was heard from the various stations from the set that the Association installed some time ago.

the score of 28-8. This assures them of a place in the play-off and the chance to win the handsome trophy donated by Griffe Clarke to the winner of their league. The whole team played good ball and there were no especial stars. They will feature the preliminary before the Juvenile game next Saturday night when a great crowd should be on hand to cheer them to another victory.

It is hoped that all the girls and boys are keeping the popular club dance in mind, which will be held Tuesday, March 27, at Mosher's Arcadia.

"Y" Girls to the Fore

The annual masquerade of the "Y" female Junior Council was held at the Men of England Synagog, Spadina Avenue, on Tuesday, March 6, about three hundred and fifty young ladies attending. The following young ladies captured the prizes which were given for the best costumes in the groups they represented: Miss Dora Claire, for the most Jewish costume; Miss Ann Zeidenberg for the most original costume; Miss Annie Harris for the funniest costume; Miss Tillie Silver for the prettiest. Mr. Chas. Oelbaum acted as chairman for the evening. The judges, who were Miss Eva Gebrrig, Miss Zeldin and Mr. Chas. Oelbaum, had a great deal of difficulty in awarding the prizes, since nearly everyone who attended was in costume and there can be no doubt but that many were disappointed.

Literary

On Sunday evening, March 18, an interesting program will be given in the form of a debate between the Y.M.H.A. and the Cosmopolitan Club, on the question, "Resolved that Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished." The affirmative side will be upheld by the Cosmopolitans, represented by Louis Kirkland and Manuel Poultz, and Herman Wosk and Louis Brody will uphold the negative side for the "Y." Several well known men will act as judges.

himself twenty years ago, as a youth at the University of Petrograd. Just as we had happened along to this meeting of Young Judaeans, just so, twenty years before, did Dr. Goldstein, with never a thought in his head of Zionism, stroll into a room where certain men were discussing the possibility of a Home-Land, and then, as now, did the message of Zion fall on heeding ears... With impassioned words Dr. Goldstein showed us the non-Zionist as one who deserts his people while they are in need. Somehow it had never struck us quite like that before. To prefer the broad streets of the gentile to the narrow alleys of the ghetto, that seemed more or less natural, but to desert our own folks, the Jews of the ghetto, when they were in sore straits with none but us to help them—that seemed different. The Jews of Russia, Poland and the Ukraine are being tortured shamelessly, yet we are doing nothing towards putting an end to these pogroms. Yet Col. Patterson, with a conviction that is born of knowledge and wisdom, joins his voice with that of Dr. Goldstein, and says loudly "that the Jew can put a stop to these pogroms by building up Palestine. For once Palestine is built up, a representative from the Home-Land will sit with the League of Nations—and pogroms will be no more!" But to quote Dr. Goldstein, the unthinking Jew, the anti-Zionist, disregards the sufferings of his less fortunate brethren. In former years when the toll of the pogroms was so heavy as to make even the most calloused amongst us lend a helping hand, the procedure was always the same—a steamship ticket was sent to the sufferer in Galicia or the Ukraine, and he with all his worldly goods arrived in America, there to eke out his daily substance as a "Kramer." Today, that temporary respite is denied them. We know and they know that our doors are barred to them. There is only one way to save them, and that way is by making Palestine ours... As we listened to the inspired sincerity of Dr. Goldstein, only then did we realize the shallow, empty part that the anti-Zionist is playing in the Jewish question of to-day. Our problem is there, a vital one for every thinking Jew and Jewess. In disregarding it, we are slackers in the fullest sense of the word. It is indeed a strange co-incidence that in telling us the story of how he became a Zionist, Dr. Goldstein should have opened our eyes to the necessity of a National Home-Land. As his heart was touched twenty years ago, just so did he touch ours. Of those who heard his message, many will ignore his plea; some few will remember the spirit of his talk; a part there may be who will carry on the work of Zionism even as he has done. For never once since the time when, as a first-year student at the University of Petrograd, he first took part in Zionist activities, has Dr. Goldstein slackened in his work. It was in 1902 that he became a member of the "Kadima," a Zionist Circle which gave from amongst its members many of those who became leading figures in Russian Zionism. To this group belonged Vladimir Zabotinsky, Gepstein and Soloveitchik, the Minister of Jewish Affairs in Lithuania and member of the Zionist Executive, and A. E. Idelson, one of the greatest men in the Zionist movement and founder and chief editor of the "Rassviet," the first Zionist paper in all Russia, whose greenish-blue cover and pages of closely printed matter were eagerly looked for by the Jew and non-Jew alike. The first copy of the "Rassviet" appeared in 1904, and though it was forbidden by the Czarist Government, it appeared in Russia under different names until 1919. During the years of the war, 1915-1917, the military authorities of Petrograd suspended the appearance of "Rassviet," warning the editorial committee that under no conditions would they be allowed to continue the publication in Petrograd, not even under another name. Thereupon, Leo Jaffe, editor of the "Haarez" in Jerusalem, was sent to Moscow with Dr. Goldstein. Together they edited the "Rassviet," which appeared in Moscow for two years under the name "Yevrejsuaga Thisn." Upon the outbreak of the Russian revolution, it reappeared in Petrograd.

The activities of the Russian Zionist in Czarist Russia—activities in which Dr. Goldstein played a large part—will make a fascinating chapter in our history. For fifteen years Dr. Goldstein was a member of the Executive Committee of Russian Zionism. We can scarcely realize what energy, wit, shrewdness and diplomacy were required in order to build up and maintain this strong Russian Zionist organization which spread over all of Europe and Asia, with affiliations in over 2,000 cities and towns. Nor must it be forgotten that this organization was forced to work for the most part illegally. Many were the narrow escapes and thrilling the sudden dangers. In the year 1911 there were trials of individuals and groups of Zionists accused in many cities. Some were fined, others imprisoned; but for the most part they were successful in escaping the keen eye of the secret police service. They even had a special code for correspondence with local committees.

All this time Dr. Goldstein was taking an active part in general Jewish affairs, for the Russian Zionist endeavours to comply with Herzl's slogen, "Conquer the community and try to put a national spirit in all Jewish educational and social institutions." The climax of the fight between the Zionistic and anti-Zionistic points of view was reached in the big years of 1915-1917, when the Russian Zionist Executive decided to lay more emphasis upon practical work than upon propaganda, as they had been doing hitherto. They introduced Hebrew in the Jewish kindergartens and schools, not merely as one of the subjects, but as the language in which all the subjects were to be taught. A special organization, called the "Tarbuth," was created, and in a surprisingly short time a net of Hebrew schools was spread all over Russia—schools, beginning with the kindergarten and ending with the high schools in larger cities. There were as well two seminaries for kindergarten teachers and one for school teachers. The Yiddishists, enemies of the Hebraists, tried to counterbalance this movement by forming an organization to do similar work in Yiddish. So greatly did the Yiddishists fear the success of the "Tarbuth" that when they became the heads of the Jewish section of the Soviet Government, they began by declaring the Hebrew language and the study of the Bible as strictly forbidden. They knew perfectly well that should the parents have a free choice, the overwhelming majority would send their children to Tarbuth schools.

In 1917, after the outbreak of the Russian revolution, the Zionistic feelings of Russian Jews, now no longer gripped by the iron hand of the Czarist Government, began to develop and flourish in a remarkable manner. It is sufficient to say that in the election to the Kerensky constituency, 700,000 Jews voted, and of those votes over 600,000 were given to the Zionist candidates. Dr. Goldstein, who was among those elected, was overwhelmed by the strength of the Zionist movement among the Jewish masses in the provinces of Podolia and Bessarabia where he was addressing the electors.

It was in 1918 that Dr. Goldstein was sent by the Russian Zionist Executive from Moscow to Kiev, where for the first time in the history of Russian Jews, a Jewish national congress was to take place, of Jews, representing 3,000,000 Ukranian Jews. The war was still going on, and the Jewish delegates were eager to secure at that congress a resolution urging the future peace conference to acknowledge the Jewish National Home-Land in Palestine. It was Dr. Goldstein who delivered the address regarding the future of Palestine, and after stormy discussions the consent was secured of eighty-five per cent. of the delegates. Then, as president of the Ukrainian Jewish National Assembly, Dr. Goldstein, with two other men, left Kiev for Paris at the beginning of 1919. The tale of their journey across Ukrainian White Russia into Germany, to Denmark, England and France, would fill pages of a novel of the real purple-thrilled variety. Without passports, restrictions of all sorts were placed upon the travellers. Finally, however, they arrived in Paris. Then commenced a period which Dr. Goldstein speaks of as his double exile—for it was an exile not only from Russia, but from the Jewish centres where he had worked all his life. But Dr. Goldstein soon found that Zionism was as universal and national as are the Jewish people, and very soon his time was filled with Zionist activities. After six months work in Paris as delegate of the Committee of Jews to the Peace Conference, Dr. Goldstein was summoned to London in 1920 to take part in the London Zionist Conference. There he was asked to organize the publicity propaganda work for Keren Hayesod. From [illegible] the call of many countries [illegible] to further the success of Keren Hayesod. As special delegate Dr. Goldstein visited Jewish communities in [illegible] and South America, Argentina, Roumania, United States and Canada, becoming as he himself says, a second edition of the Wandering Jew.

Dr. Goldstein is of the opinion that pogroms will not occur on this continent. In Russia it was always the illiterate mob who took part in the pogroms, the intellectuals never [illegible] the sufferings of the Jew as a shame, and wished for the absolute [illegible] of race or religion. Here, the anti-Semitism in the universities is nothing more or less than jealousy. It is though, an ominous note that the first blow towards excluding the Jew comes not from the masses but from the [illegible] brain and learned of the country. Though this is serious, it must be understood that pogroms are impossible in a democratic country. Even in Russia pogroms would be impossible were it not that the Czarist Government demanded them. The terrible pogroms of post-revolution Russia were due to the fact that the anti-Semitic passion was held in restraint by nothing.

In speaking of his travels, Dr. Goldstein declares that nowhere was he so impressed as during his stay throughout Western Canada where he met with splendid support and the true Zionist spirit both in large cities and small towns. [illegible] that the large cities in Eastern Canada can not compare the enthusiasm in those towns in Western Canada, that the Canadian Jew is [illegible] to success.

Purim Entertainment

On Sunday, March 11, the religious school of the University Avenue Synagog celebrated Purim by the presentation of a Purim playlet entitled "Casting Lots" and appropriate recitations. Following are the names of the pupils that took part in the programme: David Cohn, King Ahashverush; Earl Feldman, Haman; Miss A. Salaman, Esther; Miss Lily Prager, Zeresh; Celia Schiff, Zeresh and Lilly Rosen, Esther; the brothers H. and L. Rosen, the executioners. Bigtan and Teresh; Miss Pressman, Chamberlain; Lazy Hermann, first prince; L. Litos, Karshena; Gerdenit, M. Shapiro, prince. The sisters H. and A. Schwartz, Goldie Chapman and Pita Cass were the ladies that entertained at the royal feast. The following rendered appropriate recitations: Vera Alexander, Bella Berger, Izzy Weintraub and Young Larenbaum recited some Hebrew poems; Goldie Chaikin, Lionel Lester and Eva Klebanoff recited in English. The prologue to the play was declaimed by Miss Annie Chaikin. Much thanks and credit is due to Mr. Charles Benjamin, who coached the players and to Miss Bella Rosen who coached the dancers, and was at the piano during the performance. The audience was much larger than the capacity of the hall, and Rabbi Siegel was obliged to request the overflow to wait in the Synagog upstairs until the first performance was over. When the first audience filed out at the end of the play, those waiting upstairs came down and witnessed the second performance. Much thanks is due the committee of ladies from the Women's Auxiliary that was on duty at the doors, and the ladies that decorated the hall.

Women's Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Goel Tzedek Congregation which was to be held on Monday, March 19, has been postponed to a date early in April. Members will be informed by mail of the exact date. The business of the meeting will be important.

NEW AUXILIARY ELECTS OFFICERS

A Ladies' Auxiliary of the McCaul Street Synagog has been organized and held a meeting March 11. Rabbi Siegel addressed the meeting, emphasizing the importance of Sunday Schools for children and urging the members to maintain the principles of Orthodox Judaism. Election of officers was held and the following were elected: Mrs. L. Clavir, President; Mrs. L. Volles, Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Breslin, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. C. Alter, Secretary. These ladies will be assisted by an executive of twenty-five members.

A campaign for the relief of European war sufferers is shortly to be undertaken by the Jews of Cuba, under the leadership of Frank Steinhardt, organizer and president of the Havana Street Railway Company, regarded by experts as one of the finest traction systems in the world. Mr. Steinhardt has distinguished himself by his many notable achievements for the development of the City of Havana, many of which were carried out by him during the incumbency of Governor-General Leonard Wood and by the execution of an extremely ambitious harbour development plan, greatly increasing the port facilities of the Cuban capital.

Albert Einstein conceived the idea of his theory of relativity when he was eighteen and published it at twenty-six. He is, as we should expect, an advocate of shortening up the school period and making it more practical, so that the student can get at his life work earlier. This at least seems the best plan for brilliant minds like his and educators are coming to the conclusion that special facilities should be afforded such, so they can advance as fast as they can without waiting on their slower schoolmates.

ROSA RAISA

Mme. Rosa Raisa is one of those rarest human beings, an operatic artist whose taste outside the opera house or concert hall are primarily domestic. Fortunate, too, is she by the fact that she has found for a husband a man whose career is a supplement and complement to her own—in short, who is a partner as well as a mate. Signor Giacomo Rimini sings with her as a member of the Chicago Opera Association and appears with her in joint recitals during her concert tours. They study their parts together with a mutual sympathy and understanding which bear rich fruit whenever they appear in concerted numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Weidman, St. Elmo Apartments, returned to the city Sunday, March 4, having spent the past six weeks in California, returning by way of Kansas City and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Freedman, College Avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Mrs. D. Wodlinger and son, Lewis, left the city this week to meet her husband in Chicago, where they will reside in future.

Mrs. B. Levinson, Aikins Street, entertained at the tea-hour Saturday, March 3, in honour of her sister, Miss Edythe Presner, Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. David Berman, Victor Street, entertained at a delightful family dinner recently, the occasion being their eleventh wedding anniversary.

Doctor and Mrs. O. Margolese, McMillan Avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Mr. Henry Nathanson, Toronto, is a visitor in the city, and while here is a guest at the Royal Alexandra Hotel.

The Girls' Auxiliary of the Jewish Orphanage entertained the children of the Home, Sunday afternoon, March 4, at a delightful Purim party in the auditorium of the building. Those who formed the committee under the convenorship of Miss Mina Shaen to look after the arrangements were the Misses Bertha Sigesmund, Sara Greisman, Etta Forgan, Marion Korman, Pearl Finklestein, Rose Goldstein, Mary Rosenblat, Anne Shaen and Lottie Bere. A splendid program was rendered by some of the members of the Girl Guides. Those contributing the various numbers were: the Misses Ruth Frankfurter, violin selections, accompanied by Estelle Frankfurter; Elise Green, recitations; Dorothy Sternberg, piano solo; Minnie Portigal, recitations; Annie Circus, a kiddie of the Home, rendered some pleasing piano numbers and Master Tommy Osovsky, violin selections. The remainder of the afternoon was happily spent in games, following which the kiddies were treated to a feast of goodies.

Mr. H. Isaacs, Leask, Sask., arrived in the city this week and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Isaacs, Balmoral Street.

Mrs. Ruth Arakie Cohen ("Sheila Rand") addressed a well attended meeting of the teachers' Keren Hayesod Club on Sunday afternoon, March 4. Choosing for her subject, "Zangwill, the Dramatist," Mrs. Cohen outlined the plots of "The War God," "The Next Religion," "The Plaster Saint," "The Melting Pot," and "The Cockpit," pointing out the main characteristics of each play, and finally reading the last scene of "The Next Religion," as an example of the striking beauty of Israel Zangwill's prose, and his ability for depicting an intense dramatic situation.

The Menorah Society of the University of Manitoba held a successful musical and dramatic evening at the Community Theatre on February 28.

The musical program was well balanced and some artistic numbers were excellently rendered. Among these may be mentioned the splendid performance of Mr. Maurice Loban who gave a vivid rendition of Wieniawski's "Krakowiak," a genuinely artistic rendering of Liszt's "Fourth Hungarian Rhapsodie," by Miss Esther Gofine, and two beautiful vocal solos, "Eli, Eli," and "Yahrzeit," rendered by Mrs. L. Chechik.

A reading in Jewish by Mr. J. A. Cherniack, of Pinski's comedy, "The Phonograph," followed and was greatly enjoyed.

Then came the dramatic triumph of the evening, the production by some of the Menorah members of Alice Gerstenberg's "Potboiler," which was a perfect scream from beginning to end. Great credit is due to Miss Rowena Brownstone for her masterly direction of the play, as well as her splendid portrayal of the character of "Mrs. Pencil," the villainess. Harvey Golden's delineation of "Sid," the playright, was a triumph. The other characters were well cast and played their roles well. Mr. Henry Brenner, as the villain, "sustained the suggestion of villainy" to perfection. Miss Ruby Rabinovitch, as the heroine, "so cool, and pure and white," was delightfully charming. Ralph Robinson was well cast as the broken-hearted father. Sam Swartz, as the hero, was very pleasing. Harry Medovy, as the would-be author, kept the house in an uproar with his natural naivete.

The production of this play by the Menorah Society was originally intended as a test, or tryout, for future dramatic work by the society. It, however, greatly exceeded their expectations, and the manner in which it was presented by the members and received by the audience, proved it a finished product. The president, Mr. Ernest A. Brotman, wishes to announce that in view of this success, the production by the Menorah Society of a three or four act play, having a Jewish subject matter, may be looked forward to in the near future.

Ald. Louis Rubenstein appears in a rather new role. Putting aside skating championships, civic boxing commissions, curling, and the many other sports with which he has long been connected, he is now working together with "Sam" Robinson, chairman of the 1923 annual Y.M.H.A. The weekly sewing meeting of the Hadassah Chapter took place at the residence of Mrs. J. Kizell on Tuesday afternoon. There was a large attendance and a goodly amount of sewing was done. Arrangements were made to hold a bridge and five hundred party in the near future. The committee appointed to have charge of this undertaking included Mrs. Harry Freedman, Mrs. J. Holzman and Mrs. L. Leiken. Mrs. J. N. Nathanson, the secretary, read extracts from the Hadassah Bulletin regarding the activities of the various chapters throughout Canada, and also telling of the work in Palestine. Proceeds from the disposal of a silver basket have been turned over to the treasurer.

The Y.M. and Y.W.H.A. have every reason to be proud of their Dramatic Club for the splendid performance it gave at the Monument National Theatre on Tuesday evening. The performanec was under the direction of Miss Lillian Ginsberg, to whom the greatest credit is due for a very fine production, which was carried out with the finish of a professional performance. Miss Ginsberg is one of those individuals whom any organization is fortunate to possess as a member, for she spares neither time nor energy in carrying to a successful conclusion anything she undertakes. The program on Tuesday evening was as follows: "Makeshifts," by Elizabeth Robins; the Misses Anne Holzman and Mae Brodie, and Messrs. J. Dover and S. Lepofsky. "Songs of Love," from "Blossomtime," sung by Mrs. Brodie, with dance accompaniment by Miss Rose Sinclair. Monologue, "John Milansky," Miss L. Ginsberg. An enjoyable time was spent by all present and a nice sum realized for the funds of the society. Mrs. R. Kaminsky and Miss Helen Abelson assisted Mrs. Mirsky in serving the refreshments and in receiving the money donations.

The regular monthly meeting of the Rideau Street Synagog Ladies' Auxiliary took place on Sunday afternoon. The meeting, which was largely attended, was presided over by the president, Mrs. M. B. The money thus raised will be used for the redorating and refurnishing of the synagog, as occasion will arise. Votes of thanks were passed to the convenors of the different committees in appreciation of their efforts in making the dance such a success. At the conclusion of the business meeting tea was served, Mrs. Bloomfield being the hostess. The next regular meeting will not take place until after Passover, and on that occasion Mrs. F. The Y.M.H.A. Juvenile basketball team defeated the Collegiate Blues by a score of 26 to 21 in the first of the home and home games to decide the championship of the second half in the Juvenile Basketball League, played last Tuesday night. The game was a good one, and play was even at all times, and only the more accurate shooting of the Hebrews, who had less chances than their opponents, gave them the victory. The accurate shooting of Abramovitch and the all-round play of that boy, with defensive work by Davis, which stamped him as the pick of the Juvenile defence men, featured the game.

The finals in the Zivian bowling league were played last week, and resulted in the following members winning the prizes: High average (cup presented by the Victoria Bowling Academy) Mrs. D. Dover. OTTAWA LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

On Tuesday evening, February 27, the regular meeting of Ottawa Lodge, No. 885, I.O.B.B., was held in Pythian Hall. The feature of the evening was the installation of officers for the ensuring year, 1923. Bros. Marcus Sperber, K.C., and Max Bernfield, B.C.L., of Montreal Lodge, were delegated to perform the ceremony. Past President, Bro. Dr. Dover, who presided, introduced Bro. Sperber, who was called upon to address the meeting. Bro. Sperber eulogized the work of the Independent Order Bnai Brith and urged a continuation. He characterized the Order of Bnai Brith as an army of militant men, sons of the Covenant, who were fighting for justice and uplifting the morals and standard of Judaism for a motive not of self-advancement but of self-sacrifice. He reviewed the work of the order from its inception, pointing out that it had been founded some eighty years ago. The speaker said that the platform of the I.O.B.B. does not permit of any differences, for strife, as no matter what a man's social status is, whether rich or poor, Zionist or non-Zionist, Reformed Jew or Orthodox Jew, conservative or radical, all are Ben Briths. The speaker referred to the time about twenty years ago when the Roumanian Government barred Jews from citizenship, and through the instrumentaligy of the Bnai Brith organization, John Hayes, at that time

United States Secretary of State, communicated with the Roumanian Government, as a result of which the order of barring of Jews from citizenship was withdrawn. He also said that the I.O.B.B. had representation at Versailles, where the rights of Jews the world over were placed before the conference. He also referred to the incessant fight against the present wave of anti-Semitism by the anti-Defamation League.

Bro. Max Bernfield, President of Montreal Lodge, was also called upon to address the meeting. In a short but pointed address the speaker referred to the work of Montreal lodge and its activities. He dwelt upon the question of, "Does the Bnai Brith justify its existence?"

Those who were installed in office were as follows: President, J. J. Marks; Vice-President, Benj. Goldfield; Monitor, Dr. H. Dover; Assistant Monitor, Dr. A. Slone; Financial Secretary, B. H. Fogle; Recording Secretary, Kalman Smith; Treasurer, A. Shaffer; Guard, M. Max; Warden, Laz. Greenberg; Trustees, Bros. J. Davis, I. Sugarman and M. R. Freedman.

JEWISH HOUSEWIVES IN QUANDARY WHILE KOSHER BUTCHERS LOCK IN WAR

Montreal.—Declaring that it is the schochetim and butcher shops of the Jewish Community Council, with a certain rabbi, who is also the kosher authority for an American packing house, who are trying to form a meat trust and drive the independent butchers out of the market by boycotting their shops, the Hebrew Butchers' Association of Montreal, through their secretary, L. Auerbach, have issued a statement explaining their side of the kosher meat quarrel that is now agitating the Jewish community.

They threaten to take proceedings against the Council, which they claim is trying to drive them from the market.

"The members of the Hebrew Butchers' Association of Montreal," declared Mr. Auerbach to-day, "are not trying to restrict kosher meat production in Montreal and force up prices. The trouble started when the newly-formed Community Council imposed a tax of one and a half cents on every pound of meat for the Talmud Torahs. This added considerable expense to the cost of slaughtering, but the butchers were willing to pay it on two conditions: (1) That the Community Council look after the kosher question more strictly as two of the rabbis had complained that there was negligence in the slaughtering; and (2) That the Community Council issue a statement showing how the money collected by the tax was being used.

"Two rabbis, Rabbis Rosenburg and Rabbi Hirschorn, made protests to the Community Council about the negligent way the kosher meat was being looked after, but no attention was paid to their protests, with the result that they and seven schochetim left the Community Council, because they claimed that the Council had not appointed competent overseers to look after the koshering of meat. These men are looking after the meat sold by the Butchers' Association. The Council, to retaliate, are declaring that their meat is trefah and boycotting their shops."

Unable to reply and state their side of the question through the Jewish press, Mr. Auerbach declared that the Jewish housewife, uncertain of what to do, was in a dilemma, and had to buy at the shops opened by the Community Council.

Keren Hayesod Bulletin

Controller Joseph Singer deeply regretted his inability to be present at the mass meeting, as he was anxious to do. He had to be in Ottawa on Sunday.

Nat Phillips is polishing up his various brands of eloquence, preparing for the campaign. He promised to be one of the active members of Abe Cohen's committee of lawyer-speakers.

Mrs. Kronick has bought new strings for the Hadassah purse. She has a habit of pulling the purse strings very tight.

Louis Rotenberg is on the committee to deal with "bankers and brokers." He intends to start with J. P. Morgan.

How many of our "Deutschen" will now become adherents of the Keren Hayesod, since Rabbi Silverman and Mr. Louis Marshall have identified themselves with the Keren Hayesod?

"FALASHA SABBATH" ON APRIL 7

Rabbis Will Appeal for Abyssinian Work

Rabbis throughout the country will set aside Saturday, April 7, during the week of Passover, as "Falasha Sabbath." The note that will be emphasized in their message will be that of bringing deliverance to the 50,000 Falashas of Abyssinia, who now live in a partial ignorance of their faith, to which they have clung with unusual devotion for over 2,000 years. The American Pro-Falasha Committee, through the attainment of its national quota of $5,000, will establish a series of schools in the Falasha communities, directed by Falasha teachers. A training school is now being opened in Addis Abeba, the capital of Abyssinia, by Doctor Jacques Faitlovitch, Field Executive of this Committee, who has just arrived in that land.

To date, cash contributions totalling $13,000 have been received from individuals, organizations and communities throughout the United States, in addition to an appropriation of $7,500 from the Cultural Activities Committee of the Joint Distribution Committee, according to a report made by Rabbi J. Max Weis, Director of the Appeal. Many of the larger cities are now in the process of conducting their campaigns. It is expected that the total quota of $35,000 will be reached with the Passover appeal. This appeal has been supported by the Central Conference of American Rabbis, the United Synagog of America, the Council of Jewish Women, the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, and the Women's League of the United Synagog.

The third number of the Hebrew Journal, Rimon, published in Germany, will appear early this month. It will include reproductions from mural paintings in synagogs of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, some of them in color, which have not yet been published. The architects, Mm. Lissitzki and Toeplitz, who have investigated the synagogs of South Russia, Galicia and South Germany respectively, have contributed two articles on these wall paintings executed by Jewish artists. An article is devoted to such modern Jewish artists in Russia as Chagall, Sterenberg and Altman. A detailed study deals with the Hebrew theatre, "Habimah," in Moscow, which offers some novelties in play production. Dr. Gaster has contributed an essay on the origin of the Magen David. Mrs. Rachel Vishnitzer deals with the "Philosophy of Art," by Taine. The third number of the Yiddish magazine, Milgroim, will also come out in February.

Rev. D. Abram Simon, president of the Board of Education of Washington, D.C., has again been signally honoured in being elected president of the Columbia Hospital for Women, an institution fostered by the Government.
